RELIGIOUS WAR.

Intense Excitement on Ward's Island.

THE EMIGRATION NEW BROOM.

The Catholic Church Taken Possession Of by the New Commissioners of Emigration.

The Catholies Aroused-The Priest's Statement-How the Catholics Came to Get Possession of the Church-Interview with the Doctor-Mourning and Weeping Among the Emigrants.

A rumor reached the ears of a HERALD reporter wn town yesterday atterneon to the effect that e most intense excitement prevailed among the als and inmates of the Emigrant Department Ward's Island in consequence of certain action ners in reference to the Roman Catholic hurch recently erected on the island. Last February an investigation of the disturbed condition island and the maladministration of the authorities of this department took place at Castle ertain ugly facts were brought into the light of day, but, strange to say, nobody was hurt, and the only tangible result (?) was tha here has been an attempt made to keep better acounts in the future. Matters went on pretty rly during the declining days of the old Com missioners—Richard O'Gorman, President; Eman-nel B. Hart, James B. Nicholson, Alexander Frear, Wallack, George A. Forrest, Andreas Well man and Henry L. Hoguet. Since the appointment of the new Commissioners—Henry Hurlbut, President; George Starr, Menger, Stephenson. Onintard Kanfmann Forrest, Mayor Havemeyer nd James L. Lynch—both ex officio members and thout votes-things have been GOING FROM BAD TO WORSE. culminated yesterday in a visit of Commis er Stephenson, Chairman of the Ward's Island Committee, and Quintard to the Island, when they nounced their course in reference to the church above aliuded to, which fell like a bombshell among the Catholic population of the Emigrant Department of Ward's Island, the Soldiers' Home, Incbriate Asylum and the Ward's Island, or, as it is better known, the City Insane Asylum, numbering itogether over a thousand people.

This intended action on the part of the Commis-oners of Emigration, which has caused so much excitement, is no other, in the opinion of the Catholics on the island, than the practical taking away of the Catholic church, which has been reently erected at the expense of the Roman Catho lic population ; the depriving of Catholic emigrants of all form of religious worship consistent with their belief, and the driving of Catholic officials to divine service in Harlem and elsewhere.

Toget at the bottom of this religious war the HERALD reporter visited Ward's Island last night, and is enabled to present to the HERALD eaders the following conversation with the Roman Catholic chaplain of the department, the Rev. Father Praihensky. The reverend father is a venerable old gentleman, whose hairs have grown white in the service of religion and in his

The reporter found the venerable gentleman. who, it may be remarked, is now five years chaplain to the Emigration Department on Ward's Island, in his study, and, after the usual form of introduction, began:—
"I understand, sir, that quite a religious war has been inaugurated on the island within the last lew days?"

been inaugurated on the island within the last lew days?"

The clergyman smiled and remarked, "I am afraid, sir, we are only at the beginning of it. It commenced only in earnest vesterday, and I suppose we—I refer to my own flock—must yield, as we are the weaker party. It has lasted over a year and a half, and I thought that peace had come; but the toesin was sounded yesterday agais, and yet" (with a shring of the shoulders) "I do not know why it should be so. We only want what is right and what is our own as Catholics."

"Is it true, sir, that the new Commissioners of Emigration have taken away your church?"

"From us absolutely, as Catholics; yes, sir, though I thought that everything had been settled by the old Commissioners of Charities and Correction, and that we were to have the commissioners of Charless and that we were to have this church, which was erected and decorated at our own expense for ourselves. If you refer to the recent report of the late Commissioners of Emigration sent to the Legislature you will find that 'among the repairs and improvements effected during the year the most important was the crection of which was ready for use in the month of December last, the old chapel being ordered to be fitted up as a schoolroom, for which it was very much needed."

"Would you be kind enough to give me the history of the erection of this church, sir, and how it came into the hands of the Roman Catholics?"

FATHER PRACHENSKY'S STORY.

"Certainly. Twenty years ago the Catholic and Protestant population of this department, in lact, of the entire of Ward's Island, worshipped in the same building—in the building known as 'the Nursery.' The Protestants worshipped below stairs, and the Roman Catholics up stairs. This arrangement was most satisfactory. Meantime the number of Roman Catholic emigrants increased vastly, but still the arrangement was approved of by all parties, Commissioners included, up to three or four years ago. Five years ago this system worked well, when I came here, but since that time we had such an immense indux of Roman Catholic immigrants—Irish and Italians p incepally—that new accommodations became needed. At one time the galleries of the Catholic floor of the 'Nursery,' in which we held service, gave way. We had them propped up, but they sunk again; the floor builged up in the centre, and under these circumstances it bee me necessary to apply to the Commissioners for fresh accommodation. At this time i held two services every Sunday morning, and at the last service over SEVEN HUNDRED PELSONS WORSH PPED, and there was absolute danger that the floor would give way. We applied to the Commissioners, and ager a great struggle, in which ex-Commissioner Wallach opposed us vehemently, we got a promise that the shell of a church should be built for our use, which we were to decorate and furnish internally ourselves. This of course was built out of the emigrant head morey, did not cost the titizens of New York one dolar and was the property of the emigrants them selves. The crecimber hast lwent into the church, and so large was the Catholic population on the laiand at that time that they could not be accommedated i

To Accommodate the catholics and protestants. This resolution, a ter a hard fight, was defeated. Be also moved that the priest should not be allowed to erect any statues or images in the church, "You.know," said the venerable gentleman, "we believe in-paying these tuings, and a fight was made over that resolution, and, after a hard struggle, it was also defeated, and all went along quiety until yesterday. Everybody had thought that the thing was ended. The old Emigration Commissioners went out of office, and the new ones came in a few days since. In the old Board we had four Catholics—in the present but one, Mr. Lynch, the President of the Irish societies, and he is an ex-officio member, without a vote, except in matters involving the expenditure of moneys. Yesterday, after divine service, I was at my prayers near the altar, when the chairman of the Ward's Island Committee, Commissioner Stephenson, ment in the entire island and in Harlem. Such, sir, is the whole story."

"Now, may I ask sir, what is your average congregation?"

"From seven to nine hundred and a thousand people. The Roman Catholics of the Soldiers' Home, the Inebriate Asy, um, the Ward's Island insane Asylum, all attend this church."

"Is there a law of the Catholic Church against allowing the performance of divine worship according to the Protestant rule in the same edifice?"

"Yes, sir. It would, according to our canons, be a consecrated church, no longer ipso facto. I would be obliged to remove the blessed sacrament after each service."

"Yes, sir. It would, according to the consecrated church, no longer type facto. I would be obliged to remove the blessed sacrament after each service."

"Now, may I ask, what is the maximum Protestant congregation on the island?"

"One hundred and thirty people in Winter and sometimes seven and nine in Summer. Hefore the present Catholic church was erected the Commissioners came on the Island one Sunday morning unexpectedly and found in the Protestant church ten worshippers, and in the Catholic portion of the building 500, and they at Once ordered the erection of the present Catholic edifice. Finally, all the interior decorations of the church—worth $2,000—my congregation and myself paid for ourselves. In conclusion, we say there is plenty of room in the 125 acres on Ward's Island for the different congregations to worship in separate buildings, as they have for the past twenty-seven years, and are at present. This seems to us to be progressing backwards, and we say let well alone. You have no idea of the feeling in reference to this matter on the island at present."

The reporter, satisfied that he had obtained from the reverend gentleman the salient points, bade him good night and withdrew. He subsequently called on Dr. John Dwyer, who has been resident surgeon of the institution for seventeen years, and who has always been applied to for testimony at every investigation of afairs in the Emigration Department of ward's Island. From the following conversation with Dr. Dwyer it will be seen that in his opinion the new Cemmissioners of Emigration would do well to turn their attention to the secular government of the Island:—

secular government of the Island:

"Doctor, what position do you hold in this hospital?"

"I am the surgeon."

"Would you please give me your views of this church matter, so much talked about?"

"I was very glad to find that the Commissioners had built a church for the Catholics, which my poor, crippled patients could go to without clambering up six flights of stairs. It is a great ceufort for them. I am sixteen years connected with this hospital, with the exception of one year. I was absent at the war as Surgeon of the New York Sixty-ninth regiment, and, by the by, General Dix was at one time my army corps general. I never knew any excitement here about religious matters until Mr. Wallach became a member of the Commission; he was on the old Board; he is not a member now, but he seems to be the ruling spirit with the new Board; sets every one by the ears. I think he likes a religious fight. I am sorry that the Commissioners have thought fit to mix the Protestant and Catholic congregations, for there is to-day great excitment among the patients and people. There were always two separate church buildings here since the Commission was organized."

"Was there not an investigation into Ward's Island matters held at Castle Garden by the Commissioners lately?"

"Yes, there have been several investigations. One was held last February. The testimony was taken under oath. It related to the character of the food, the manner of purchasing supplies, &c. It developed that the Warden and some other officers drew unlimited supplies from the store 'free gratis and for nothing.' Everything from a drop of link to a bottle of champagne, clgars, braudy, turkeys, &c. The doctors pay for all their food. They are the only officers who pay. The Warden, in addition to his salary, which is $3.000, gets free servants and board, and ne also purchases all supplies for the island; they amount, perhaps, to $100.000 per annum."

"How is it that the present Warden was retained out themselves; but he may be retained by the new Board; he is a ver out themselves; but he may be retained by the new Board; he is a very plausible man, "all things to all men."

"Have any changes been made yet?"

"Yes. The first official decapitation has been that of Mr. Sexton, the steward. He was well known for the past twenty years as steward of the island; an honest, hard-working man. Mr. Sexton gave, in my opinion, truthful but damaging testimony against Welles; most people here think that is the reason he was the first to suffer. Mr. Sexton got no warning; he was not even asked to resign."

"Welles was retained in office here by Tweed and Ingersoil. There is some family relation, I believe, between him and Ingersoil?"

"There is a ring on Ward's Island, of which he is the head, and in the administration of the government of the institution I believe that there is great room for improvement. I say this fearlessly, though I know that my own head is in danger. No complaints have ever been made against my hospital; but this religious quarrel has made me heartily sick. I have seen poor old women cry bitterly here to-day."

The reporter subsequently called at the office of Mr.

there to-day."

The reporter subsequently called at the office of Mr. Dowling, the librarian attached to the Protestant church, and learned there that sometimes only ten people attended church, that never more than 150 nave been present at divine service there, and that the building has never been more than half full.

A WESTCHESTER MURDER MYSTERY.

of the Supposed Murderer-How the Clew Was Obtained After Four Years-Suspicious Circumstances Pointing to the Perpetrator of the Deed-A Woman Turns Informer.

The mysterious murder of Gilbert H. Robinson at Rye Neck, Westchester county, on the night of April 30, 1869, the perpetrator of which succeeded baffle the efforts of the authorities and numerous shrewd detectives from New York, is again brought before the public by the arrest and incarceration of the supposed murderer. It will be recollected that the murdered man carried on the business of a watchmaker and jeweller in the little hamlet named, and that the crime was perpetrated in the store of the victim, who, having closed his place of business, was about retiring for the night. The theory established at he time was that deceased had unlocked the door of his store to admit some untimate friend and that, while lying on the bed where he slept in the rear part of the store, he was struck with the metallic portion of a double-barrelled shotgun, which smashed the skull, causing almost shotgun, which smashed the skull, causing almest instant death. Although surrounded by stores and human habitations, the mu der was not discovered for hearly twenty-four hours afterwards, when a neignbor happened to try the front door and found it unlocked. On the subsequent arrival of the coroner the contents of the store were found to be untouched, but the safe key was missing and has not since been discovered. In this safe the murdered man kept the most valuable portion of ms stock, including fine watches and jewelry to the value of some thousands of doings. The casa he value of some thousands of dollars. The cash eccived from sales during the day was also placed here for safe keeping, liefore the liquest was commenced Coroner smith secured the services of an artisan and caused the safe to be broken open, a task which required several hours to per-form. When opened, however, accordingly

When opened, however, everything in the form of money and valuables was found intact, plainty evidencing that if PLUNDER WAS THE OBJECT of the murderer, his bloody work was done in vain. After a protracted investigation, which lasted through several weeks, the Coroner's jury rendered a verdict of murder against some party or parties unknown.

Within the past few days Mary Richardson, a married woman living near Rie Neck, and who leither husband in company with a man named Gabriel S. Burger some months since, returned to her home hoping that she might be again taken to the bosem of her husband. She was informed by the latter that he had, during her absence, obtained a divorce from her. The woman som learned that the charge preferred against ner was that of adultery, and that the principal witness against her was a young man named Peter Ierrell, who formerly boarded at her house. Exasperated at what she considered his perfidy, the woman boldly proclaimed him the self-accused murderer of Robinson. Her confident assertions having reached the ears of Sheriff Brundage, that official caused her to make an affidayit before Justice Faulding, of White Plains, in which she set forth the various admissions of Terfield in regard to the murder. In addition to this the affidavit of Henry S. Coles, brother-in-law of was made before the same Justice of the Peace, in which was set forth the same allegations, to the best knowledge and belief of the relator. On these documents a warrant was issued for the arrest of Terrell, who was secured last Saturday while on his way from New York to New Haven.

Among the other circumstances which might implicate Terrell in the murder is the fact that about the time the body of the murdered man was discovered he disappeared from the neighborhood, and remained away for several months afterwards.
It was well known that he was an intimate friend of the deceased. He was taken before Justice Paulding, at White Plains, yesterday, and, having pleaded not guilty to the charge, he was remained
